Adacel Awarded Contract on $50B Navy SeaPort NxG IDIQ

Orlando, Florida, February 05, 2019 – Adacel Systems Inc. (Adacel or the Company) is pleased to announce that the Naval Sea Systems Command (NAVSEA) has awarded the company a prime contract on the SeaPort Next Generation (NxG) contract vehicle.

SeaPort NxG is a multiple award indefinite delivery/indefinite quantity (IDIQ) contract with a five-year base period plus optional five-year periods of performance. The Navy estimates it will procure approximately $5 billion of services per year, giving SeaPort NxG a potential maximum value of $50 billion.

SeaPort NxG is the Navy’s primary contract vehicle to provide the U.S. Navy and Marine Corps with a variety of engineering and program management support services. Adacel has expertise and past performance in multiple SeaPort NxG functional support areas such as:

- Modeling, Simulation, Stimulation, and Analysis
- Software Engineering, Development, Programming, and Network
- Research and Development
- System Design Documentation and Technical Data
- Logistics
- Information System (IS) Development, Information Assurance (IA), and Information
- Technology (IT)

Through this prime contract award, Adacel is eligible to compete nationally for individual task orders in support of U.S. Navy and Marine Corps under the SeaPort NxG program.

Adacel’s CEO Gary Person stated “Adacel has a long and successful history with providing products and services to the US Navy and US Marine Corp. The Seaport NxG contract will allow us to provide our full-portfolio of engineering and professional services in support of the warfighters and the Naval Commands.”
